

Dr. Mohsen Sohi, Frankfurt am Main, Germany

Personal Information

Year of birth: 1959

Nationality: US-American / German

Current profession

CEO, Freudenberg SE, Weinheim, Germany (since 2012); Spokesman of the Management Board, Freudenberg & Co. Kommanditgesellschaft, Weinheim, Germany (since 2012)

Career

2010 - 2012	Member of the Management Board, Freudenberg & Co, Kommanditgesellschaft, Weinheim (Germany)
2003 - 2010	President and CEO, Freudenberg-NOK General Partnership, Plymouth, Michigan (USA)
2000 – 2003	Senior Vice President, Store Automation, NCR Corporation, Duluth, Georgia (USA)
2000 - 2000	President, Honeywell Electronic Materials, Sunnyvale, California (USA)
1999 - 2000	President Commercial vehicle systems, Honeywell, Cleveland, Ohio (USA)
1997 - 1999	Vice President and General Manager Turbocharger systems, AlliedSignal Inc., Torrance, California (USA)
1995 - 1997	Director Global product development, AlliedSignal Automotive, Detroit, Michigan (USA)
1993 - 1995	Chief Engineer Material and process development, AlliedSignal Engines, Aerospace, Phoenix, Arizona (USA)
1986 - 1993	Chief Engineer, AlliedSignal Engines, Aerospace, Phoenix, Arizona (USA)

Education

1998	Master of Business Administration (MBA), Wharton School of Management, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia (USA)
1989	Doctor of Science, Mechanical engineering, Focus on materials science, Washington University, St. Louis, Missouri (USA)
1984	Master of Science, Mechanical engineering, Washington University, St. Louis, Missouri (USA)
1982	Bachelor of Science, Mechanical engineering, Aerospace technology, University of Missouri, Columbia (USA)

Other substantial activities

Since 2005	Chairman of the Board of Directors, STERIS plc, Derby (United Kingdom), (non-executive) (listed)
Since 2021	Member of the Supervisory Board, Tetra Laval International S.A., Pully (Switzerland)
Since 2023	Member of the Board of Directors, Baker Hughes Corp., Houston (USA), (non-executive) (listed)
Since 2025	Member of the Supervisory Board, Heraeus Holding GmbH, Hanau (Germany)